"Serving Winter Park For Forty Years"

A SIGNATURE EVENT FOR FASHION LOVERS

PAFW
PRESENTED BY HARRIETT LAKE

This year marks the 9th Annual Park Avenue Fashion Week, and my second year as the coordinator. In 2014 I was given the fantastic opportunity to take on this amazing fashion event.

The Shel Marks PR & Events team, along with Cox Media, have partnered to really propel what had been a neighborhood fashion show into a signature event attended by hundreds of fashion lovers.

Looking at the photo above, I feel proud and honored that our presenting sponsor, Harriett Lake, the Winter Park Chamber of Commerce and Dan Leaphart of Cox Media believed in me and my team. To them and all the local supporters who have stood behind us — we couldn't have done it without you.

To me, Park Avenue Fashion Week means showcasing not only fashion but also our amazing community. My goal is to create a destination event encouraging outsiders to come shop at our boutiques, eat at our restaurants, drink at our bars, stay at our hotels and enjoy the beauty of Winter Park.

For more information, visit parkavenuefashionweek.com. If you're seeing this publication in advance and would like to volunteer, email pafw@shelmarkspr.com or visit parkavenuefashionweek.com/volunteers.

It's my distinct pleasure to officially welcome you to Park Avenue Fashion Week 2015. I hope you enjoy the show!

Diane von Furstenberg

DVF is, and will always be, the "It Girl." She paved the way back in 1970 for women eager to join the workforce without the dowdy pant suits. DVF created the iconic "wrap dress," which was respected and very well accepted with power women everywhere. A cultural phenomenon, the wrap dress is symbolic; simplistic in design yet synonymous with embracing the female form and celebrating its beauty. Although she started designing "back in the day," DVF remains the go-to designer and is still steaming through the fashion industry. New designers are replicating her look today. Ladies, keep in mind that each Tuni-featured "Designer of the Day" will be available to view all week long.

WORK OF ART

YOU CAN TAKE HOME AN OFFICIAL POSTER AS A FASHION WEEK SOUVENIR.

Artist Derek Gores, presented by Snap! Orlando, says he likes his pictures “to barely come together with teasing details.” His use of recycled items such as magazines, data and digital materials to create collages results in truly distinctive and dynamic work.

The New York native takes his viewers on a journey, allowing their minds to roam freely. “I create depending on elements such as randomness, and what may be considered conflicting styles in order to form wholeness,” says Gores, who lives in Melbourne.

For the first time ever, Park Avenue Fashion Week is offering an official poster, created by Gores specifically for this event. Posters are available for purchase. The original artwork from which the poster was made will also be available for purchase. You’ll be able to view it the evening of the Runway Show.

During the show, Gores will be working on a new original piece based on Fashion Week images and themes. You can watch it take shape — and even help determine what it includes.

Just visit the Snap! Orlando exhibitor space, where Gores will be busily creating, and contribute items you believe represent the event. Once the new work is complete, it will also be available for purchase.

“We are honored and excited to have Derek on board,” says Michelle Marks of Shel Marks PR & Events. “His artistic style will merge perfectly with the celebration of creativity exhibited throughout the week.”

Preorder your posters today at parkavenuefashionweek.com.

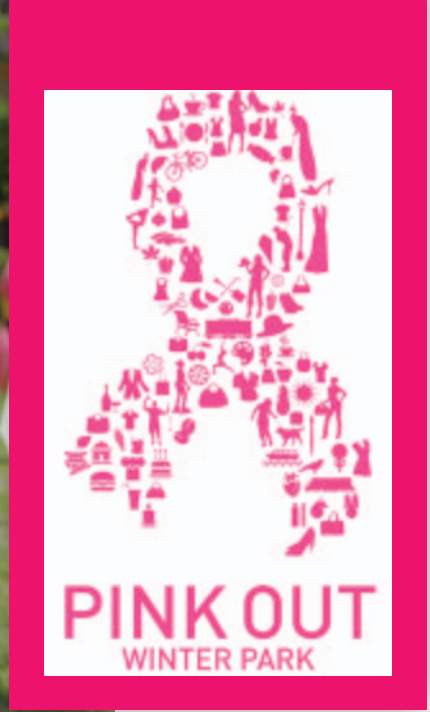

All pre-ordered posters will be signed by Gores. PAFW

Those pink flamingos are everywhere during Pink Out, and each of them bears the name of someone impacted by breast cancer.

FASHION WEEK GOES PINK!

PINK OUT RAISES FUNDS FOR THE WINTER PARK MEMORIAL HOSPITAL MAMMOGRAPHY SCHOLARSHIP FUND.

The City of Winter Park has gone pink during September and October. Using a distinctly Florida theme in bolstering breast cancer awareness, Pink Out Winter Park seeks to educate the community about the importance of breast health and promote the prevention of breast cancer for future generations.

This year, Park Avenue Fashion Week has announced that Pink Out Winter Park will be its charitable partner. Pink Out raises funds for the Winter Park Memorial Hospital Mammography Scholarship Fund, which is available for women who can't otherwise afford a screening.

Since 2011, 180 women have received mammograms through the fund. Six were diagnosed with breast cancer and went on to receive treatment.

In addition to receiving a portion of ticket sales for the Runway Show, Pink Out is also funded by the sale of pink flamingos for $10. You can place a flamingo in your yard, or add another to the growing flock on Park Avenue and throughout Winter Park. Each funky plastic bird wears a name tag with a survivor or loved one impacted by breast cancer.

Those ubiquitous flamingos will also play a role at Fashion Week. On the day of the Runway Show, guests will be able to "grow the flock" before entering the tent by making a flamingo purchase. Organizers encourage guests to bring something distinctive to make their flamingo stand out.

If you want to buy a flamingo even sooner, they're available now at the following locations: Crosby YMCA Wellness Center, FRi Diagnostic Imaging Oviedo, Florida Hospital for Women in Winter Park, Lilly Pulitzer, Miller's Hardware, The Doggie Door, Tuni, Walk on Water, Winter Park Chamber of Commerce, Winter Park Public Library and the Winter Park YMCA.

In addition to patronizing Park Avenue Fashion Week and buying a flamingo, you can contribute to the fund by creating or supporting a "Fund a Flock" page. On your page, you can share your story, honor a loved one or promote breast-health awareness to friends and family.

Reach your $500 goal and 50 flamingos will be flocked in your honor along with a special recognition sign.

An array of local businesses — including retailers and restaurateurs — have also become Pink Out partners. They're showing their support in a variety of ways, including turning their store windows pink, providing educational materials, hosting seminars or donating proceeds from select items.

Merchant partners include Belicoso Cigars and Café, BurgerFi, Charyli, Cottonways, Eileen Fisher, Hutton, J. Jill, J. McLaughlin, John Craig Clothier, Lilly Pulitzer, Nothing Bundt Cakes, Peterbrooke Chocolate, Small Business Counsel, Synergy, Ten Thousand Villages, The Ancient Olive, The Bar Method, Through the Looking Glass, Toasted, Tugboat and the Bird, and Tuni.

For women over 40, according to the American Cancer Society, a yearly mammogram is the most effective method for detecting breast cancer early, when it's most treatable and beatable. Early diagnosis significantly increases the survival rate.

Florida Hospital for Women at Winter Park Memorial Hospital and FRi Diagnostic Imaging Oviedo both offer mammograms, with next-day availability and evening hours.

Could you benefit from the Winter Park Memorial Hospital Mammography Scholarship Fund? Get an application by calling 407-646-7798 or email fundcoordinator@flhosp.org. PAFW
